WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., SEPT. 8, 1874.

Washington is fast throwing off its summer lethargy, and assuming a business appearance, as on every side we see signs of the return of our people. Huge wagons piled up with trunks roll through our streets at all hours of the day and night; houses are being painted up, shutters are opened, and everywhere we find that "they are marching on." The hotels are filling and the dramatic season commences to-night at Ford's Opera House, with promises of being a brilliant one. The weather has been very changeable of late, and coughs and colds are prevalent, in consequence.

As already stated in a previous letter the Safe Burglary Case was called for trial on Thursday last, and as almost every one predicted, the prisoner who was bailed, Benton, failed to appear, his counsel presenting a certificate from a physician in New York certifying that Benton was very ill and "any excitement might give the patient continued fever." After some preliminary talk, the Court called attention to errors in the issuing of bail—that the surety offered lives in New York, far away from the jurisdiction of this Court, and in case of forfeiture its process could not reach him. Bail was given in only one case out of seven, and yet Benton was allowed freedom on all. The Court called particular attention to this fact, and ordered six bench warrants to issue for Benton's arrest on the other indictments, though his Honor recognized Harrington's action in the first case. It was expected and it was due to justice and public decency that this man (Harrington) should have been reprimanded for his interference in the case at all, when it had been assigned to another lawyer, and it required more than an ordinary amount of cheek for a man, who, according to his own oath, held no position in the District Attorney's office known to the law, to assume to act on behalf of the Government.

No one expected to see Benton when his case was called. The fact is that he learned that things were "getting hot" in connection with the burglary affair, of which he was but a paid subordinate, and he wrote a letter demanding his release, and his release had to come as per agreement.

A reporter of the New York Sun, it seems, called upon the physician, and notary who wrote and certified to the certificate. They both said they did not know the prisoner, but it was stated he was a clerk in a New York house, and he wanted the certificate to base an application for leave of absence on. And they thought he was a remarkably healthy-looking sick man.

The Secret Service office in New York will be closed,—the records to be transferred to the Treasury Department. Solicitor Wilson will not publish at present the evidence taken by him, but he thinks enough has been collected to indict Harrington, the "Assistant District Attorney," the Chief, and six Secret Service detectives of the Treasury. These parties will all be discharged to-day from the Treasury. Both of the daily papers refuse to publish a line about this nefarious business, but notwithstanding the public have been pretty well informed that it was concocted by the District Ring, and carried out by the Secret Service.

The Committee, Senators Morrill and Hamilton and Representatives Mitchell and Hoar, who were appointed to draw up a form of government for this District, have met, and given the most earnest research to the subject—going back to the foundation of the District as the Capitol of the Nation, and analyzing every form that had been tried. In consequence, the Committee will be able to present a plan of government, that will bring its responsibilities closer to Congress. Heretofore our municipal systems have been failures. The Committee have decided that the business of the District shall be invested in the different Departments—the whole subject to be under the direction of Congress through a District bill each year. It seems, under such a law, all financial affairs will be under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury. The judicial business will be under the Department of Justice, and improvements will be under the direction and responsibilty of either the War or Interior Departments. The subject of suffrage has not been finally determined.

The approaching nuptials of Lieut. Fitch, of the Navy, and Miss Minnie Sherman, daughter of General Sherman, is the leading and almost exclusive subject of consideration in fashionable circles at the present time. The ladies are especially interested, as it includes the necessary discussion of toilettes—what to wear and how to wear it. Dresses for the bride and maids have been ordered from Europe, and it is said that the brilliancy of the wedding will equal, if not surpass the one that took place recently at the Executive Mansion. The following is a copy of the invitation and cards, viz:

The General of the Army and Mrs. Sherman invite you to be present at the nuptial Mass and Marriage of their daughter, Maria Ewing Sherman, and Thos. Wm. Fitch, Engineer Corps U. S. N., which will be solemnized by His Grace, J. B. Purcell, Most Rev. Archbishop of Cincinnati, in St. Aloysius Church, Washington, D. C., on Thursday, Oct. 1st, 1874, at 11 o'clock."

Enclosed is a large square card on which is engraved:

"The General and Mrs. Sherman at home, Thursday, Oct. 1st, from 1 until 4 o'clock, 207 I street."

Another card is also necessary, which admits guests into the church and no person will be allowed to enter but those holding them. There will be 1600 invitation issued to the church, and a smaller number invited to the house, owing to the impossibility of entertaining so large a number, even for the few moments each guest is expected to remain in the three hours to which the reception is limited, as a portion of the family leave for St. Louis the same night and the rest follow the next day.

An order was issued September 4th, by order of the Secretary of War that with the assent of the President, and request of the General, the Headquarters of the Army of the U. S. will be transferred from Washington to St. Louis in October. It is generally regretted that General Sherman and his estimable lady leaves the city, as Mrs. Sherman's receptions are considered the nearest being perfect of any of them. There has always been, however, a difference of opinion in the War Department as to the relative duties of the General and Secretary of War, and this change is supposed to correct such differences.

It has been said that a State Dinner was to be given at the President's on Sept. 14th, as a festive initiation of Post Master General Jewell into the Cabinet fold. It should be stated that the dinner that will occur at the time and place mentioned will be given to the Aztec Club, of which the President is a member. This Club was organized at the close of Mexican War, composed of the regular and volunteer officers of the army which participated in the conquest of Mexico. They thus formed a union for the purpose of preserving the memory of friendships or experiences in trying campaigns. There has been annual reunions, the same as the reunions of the soldiers of the late war. Last year the Aztec Club dinner was given by General Paterson at his residence in Philadelphia. This year, Capt. Grant, of Mexican fame and now Chief Magistrate of the Republic will be the host.

Four hundred dollars conscience money was received by Treasurer Spinner to-day in an envelop, postmarked Washington, the writer explaining that he owed the amount to the Internal Revenue office.

General J. G. Foster of the Engineer Bureau, died Sept. 2, in Nashua, N. H. He was the last but one of the band of officers with General Anderson at Fort Sumter, and enjoyed the reputation of being one of the ablest officers in the regular service.

CRYSTAL SPRING ICE

WESLEY B. CORBY, Proprietor.

The Crystal Spring that gently flows
Through flowery banks of evergreen,
Like life it tells us to pursue
A course like this.—so pure, serene.

SUMMER IDYLS

The poet may write of the wine's rosy cup,
And of its bright virtues may sing,
But sweeter and cooler is the goblet when filled
With Ice from the Crystal Spring.

Belshazzar of old, at his great royal feast,
When his palace with revel did ring,
Would happier have been, had his goblets been filled
With Ice from the Crystal Spring.

The winter is past and the bright sunny skies
Soon the roses and violets will bring,
And then in our homes the goblet we'll fill
With Ice from the Crystal Spring.

Success to the cup that always does cheer,
And sweet peace and contentment does bring,
For of Earth's joyous gifts there is nothing so pure
As Ice from the Crystal Spring.

The above CRYSTAL ICE which gave such solid satisfaction to my patrons, will be furnished by me as usual. Orders left at my office, in J. W. Lees' store, Cor. of
